

East Raton and Santa Fe

By Ernie Barry

The layout represents the Santa Fe mainline over Raton Pass, located in northeastern New Mexico, in 1952. It is HO scale. The configuration is a walk-in, walk around folded dog bone with a center peninsula. It has a DCC operating system, all sound equipped engines, fully signaled and dispatched. The scenery is 100% complete and the backdrop is hand painted from prototype photos.

Photo 1: Raton Power Plant and Icing Facility.

Photo 2: Raton Station.

Photo 3: Raton 5 Stall Roundhouse.

Photo 4: Fairbanks Morris Coaling Tower.

Photo 5: Railroad Canyon.

Photo 6: Wooten Land and Fuel Co. Mine.

Photo 7: East Raton Pass Tunnel Portals.

Photo 8: Lynn, West Tunnel Portals.

Photo 9: Wooten Ranch.

Photo 10: Entering Morley Mine Complex.

Photo 11: Morley Power House.

Photo 12: Morley Drift Mine and Grizzly Trestle.

Photo 13: Trinidad, Colorado.

Photo 14: Trinidad Feed Complex.

Photo 15: Wash Day in Raton... and Coal Delivery.

